SUNDAY

THE GIANT GIRAFFE

Last Friday we received reported sightings of what the community calls The Giant Giraffe. We also have received some images of this creature, some of which include a photo of what appears to be a 12-year-old feeding the giraffe food and a photograph of it drinking water. We have sent our images to our digital media specialist for closer analysis, but we are still pending results. A government official is trying to claim that the creature is fake but the community members of Harald town, a small town located within 4KM of most of the claimed sightings, are still arguing it is real.

We interviewed one of the members of Harald town and they described the creature's height as "about 24 meters tall". If you have any further information to provide, please contact us at (604)-278-4927.

"The Jax Times" is a newspaper company. The Jax Times will provide readers with questionable coverage of events and some other stuff. With our large team of one person, we try our best to try. We are mainly known for our most likely biased news articles. Next time you see a New York Times paper you will remember us!

ALPACA KILLS NINE TOURISTS

If you have plans to go to Mount Blue Horizon this summer, you might want to go somewhere else. Mount Blue Horizon is closing down until further notice and all access to the mountain is closed off due to many deaths caused by an alpaca. This alpaca picks on unsuspecting visitors looking over the edge and scaring them by making this loud humming noise. So far there have been nine deaths and one severely injured. One of the park rangers recently stated in a public interview that “we are adding railings to the edge”.

Another park ranger said that “the alpaca is being safely relocated in a safer environment”. The local economy has crashed due to the closure of the mountain as it was a main tourist attraction for the area. Many locals are in agreement about relocating the alpaca.

THE BILLIUS BOBIUS DISCOVERED

FUN FACT!

Did you know that more people die from vending machines than shark attacks?

IT'S TRUE!

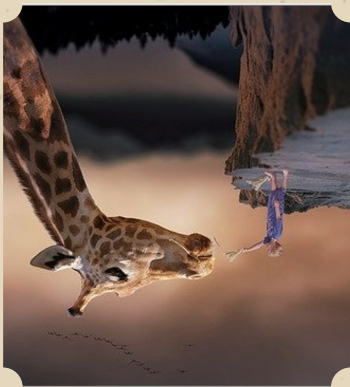

People shake the vending machine and it falls on them! Be careful!

The weirdest creature in the universe has just been discovered and its name is Billius Bobius. Billius Bobius was thought to be dead but in 2030 a biologist found a cave full of Billius Bobius cans. Fascinatingly, the Billius Bobius hatches out of a can. The biologist almost didn't make it out alive, as the Billius Bobius can be very dangerous, especially when its cans are threatened.

The Billius Bobius is described as an ugly purple blob and almost got named Billius Blobius but was decided against. Some believe that the Billius Bobius could have a huge negative impact on our ecosystem due to its deadly nature. Ecologists are currently determining how big of an impact it will actually have.

GIANT GIRAFFE IS IT A HOAX OR NOT? REVEALED!

We have received an update from our digital media specialist about the status of the images. They have concluded that the images we have been sent have been doctored. Although the images are fake, more and more people are claiming to see this creature.

Later today, the mayor of Harald town will be giving a speech about the giraffe. Many streets are blocked off due to protests about the possibility of taking down the animal if confirmed to be real. Although we don't have concrete evidence, our team has concluded that it is most likely to be fake.

You just never know what could be out there. Our next paper will cover what happened during the mayor's speech.

Thank you for reading our first edition of The Jax Times news paper. We are pleased to announce that our writers enjoyed writing this newspaper and may write a second edition. Again, thank you for reading and see you next time!
